

 Strategy & Logistics

A FEW WORDS TO THE POINT

Service Outsourcing is precisely entrusting a range of services to an external subject. The main advantage of outsourcing is the improved work effectiveness in an enterprise and, what follows, optimization of the prime costs.

Outsourcing implementation in an enterprise is justified if the available external resources are less costly than the internal ones. The limited expenses include the technical base, and outsourcing services generate a financial profit as they represent the costs of conducting a business activity. Shaping an efficient employment policy, limiting the number of staff indispensable for the business activity shall allow optimization of employment level.

Among the advantages of this solution you may undoubtedly include:

- / reducing capital expenditures by way of maintaining the technical base
- / a lower employment level
- / providing qualified staff to the entrusted tasks
- / taking over the staff's personnel and payroll documentation
- / assuring the enterprise financial liquidity and service performance continuity
- / taking over responsibility for the tasks entrusted within the outsourced service
